

Jimmy Cabuy

Web Developer • Digital Marketing Novice • Freelance Photographer

After graduating from EPHEC in e-business, I worked for over 2 years as a content creator, social media ads expert, and social media manager in a digital marketing agency. I then followed a web development Bootcamp in JavaScript to fulfil my dream of becoming a developer. Currently, I work at Decathlon Belgium as a front-end developer where I collaborate to code, debug, troubleshoot, and enhance the website's user experience.

PERSONAL PROJECTS

Uwork (03/2022 - 05/2022) ↗

- Uwork is a mobile application that connects jobseekers with companies looking for employees. This application aims to totally democratize and review the hiring system with a simple and easy to use application.

Portfolio - thedailyjim ↗

- In my spare time, I have another passion besides coding and another name: "thedailyjim" as a photographer. I've been passionate about the world of photography since I was young, and I love to get out of my house and capture the life and the surrounding landscapes.
